Letter of recommendation

Herbert has been working in STEM/MARK for nearly one year. He was a lead developer in two mid-sized projects of web analytical applications. He very quickly grasped the necessary knowledge specific for the area of Market Research and Healthcare, both of which were previously unknown to him. The end-client for whom STEM/MARK develops both apps is very satisfied with his attitude towards the projects.

Generally speaking Herbert is very bright with open and friendly personality, works fast and his work is reliable even under time pressure. He is very enthusiastic about learning new things and even in difficult situations always shows great deal of optimism. He is very creative and often comes with new ideas and improvements to the original concept of application.

I recommend him not only as skilled programmer but also as a student eager for knowledge.
